British Twerp Deploys For Breakup of U.S.A.

July 24—Kesha Rogers' Congressional campaign attended a Clear Lake, Texas, Tea Party meeting July 15. Earlier in her campaign, the Party had hosted Rogers as a featured speaker. At this event, there was none other than Winston Churchill's great-grandson, Jonathan Sandys, who expressed his concern over losing the so-called "special relationship" between Britain and the United States. Here is an excerpt of his speech, as presented on an LPAC-TV video:

"...I want to tell you the response we're having in Britain, over America, and particularly over Barack Obama. We are absolutely disgusted by what your President is doing, and has done. Thus far, he has insulted my country no less than five times! He sent the bust of my great-grandfather from the Oval Office, straightaway back to the Embassy in Washington. He told it to "get the Hell out of here."

"On his way back from coming to visit my country, his wife, having hugged my Queen—not curtsied, but hugged!...

"Now, guys, who stood with you on Sept. 11, 2001, when the Twin Towers came down? Does anyone remember that?...

"Who stood alone for a year, during World War II and didn't surrender? That was the British.

"Who did you guys fight in 1776? Okay, you slaughtered us. ...

"I don't have a vote, but I would kill for a vote, because I want to get that man out of the White House!... I have never come across a bad Republican, only a very bad Democrat! And he's sitting in the White House! And next to him is sitting a woman, who was a member of an organization called the Black Panthers!

"Now, the African-American community complains about the Ku Klux Klan, and rightly so, for what they have done and what they did. But somebody needs to mention to the press about the Black Panthers. Somebody needs to point out that this organization is incredibly racist, even more so than the Ku Klux Klan!...

"Let us get Republicans back in the House and in the Senate. Let us send a message to that man in the White House: "Your days are numbered!..."

"You are Americans and you are proud of it. But more to the point, guys, you're Texans! This is where it starts. This is the state that has the guts. This is the state that has a governor, who threatened to secede this state! It is not going to be long, before 38 states decide they, too, are going to secede! Join me!"

Jonathan Sandys

Who Is This Clown?

In an interview with EIR's Anton Chaitkin July 20, Sandys said that he moved to the United States in 2008, married a Texan, and set up the Churchill's Britain Foundation in Houston in 2009.

Asked about his Clear Lake speech, Sandys revealed that he has been interested in the breakup of the United States since moving to Texas. He has met several times with Gov. Rick Perry, who has suggested that Texas could secede.

"If Texas leads the way and goes out," he said, "Britain will establish a new special relationship with Texas. This will be in writing," as opposed to the special relationship with the U.S.A. that was only informal. "In fact, Texas already has its own long established special relationship with Britain," he assured EIR.

Sandys' mission in the U.S.A. reflects his family's long history of "America handling." Winston Churchill, the grandson of Wall Street speculator/New York Times owner Leonard Jerome, took over managing Harry Truman after Franklin Roosevelt's death.

More indicative of Sandys' character is his grandfather Duncan Sandys, who married Churchill's daughter Diana in 1935. The next year, as a Tory MP, Duncan Sandys spoke in favor of Nazi Germany's right to take over Central Europe.

No wonder Duncan's twerp grandson is defending the KKK, and secession. Are there really Americans stupid enough to listen to him?
