After Obama's Gone

It should have happened a long time ago, certainly before the deadly national election results of 2012. But now, the necessity of impeachment of Barack Hussein Obama is impressing itself hard on people's brains—and the danger that the U.S. might soon not exist if Obama remains in office, is rapidly increasing the potential for his constitutional removal from office.

In his March 3 discussion with the LaRouche-PAC Policy Committee, Lyndon LaRouche provided a vision of how everything will “open up” once the hammerlock which “Hitler” Obama currently has on politics. He said:

“Well, we have a general change in the entirety of the planet as a whole. You get the explosion of something which is something that wanted to happen; and the problem you have, is that you're going to have a sense of chaos; and the problem we will have, if Obama is thrown out of office, in terms of the global implications... We're going to have to have a general conference, of the type that Franklin Roosevelt would try to organize, in his time, to get the nations of the world that are not complicit with criminality, to meet, and to form a new agreement, which reestablishes and clears the deck of all imperial obligations among nations; which declares the absolute sovereignty of every nation which should be sovereign, in its own sovereignty. And this will become a paradigm, which will look at the task which mankind, as a species has, to deal with the problems of Earth, as Earth problems, and the problems of nearby parts of the Solar System.

“Our unity will be to organize, given the physical economic organization, required for the needs of the people of each of these that must be sovereign nations; we have to have a new conception of what a United Nations program should be. That every nation has a claim to legitimate, traditional sovereignty, has that right, and it'll be represented as a traditional sovereign nation. Things like the European Union will be automatically dissolved! The nations of Europe will be separated, back to their sovereign components; they will each be sovereign, their ability to make laws will be sovereign. The systems of law will be based on negotiation among the representatives of nations, which are free nations, free of these special kinds of things, of being part of the European Union, or some other, similar kind of moral cess-pool.

“Germany will be Germany; Italy will be Italy; Spain will be Spain; Portugal will be Portugal; France will even be France! Despite some of the financially corrupt people there, that we have, and so forth. And that's the point!

“You have to bring about the idea of a sovereign principle of nations. And this is going to be a big conference. It's going to take a long time to settle its business into some kind of finished form. But it will save the human species, because it will open gates, to do the kinds of the things we have to do, to meet the needs of humanity now, and the defense of humanity, on Earth, from the perils which come from above.”

In the U.S., this unity will come around great projects like NAWAPA, immediately after the re-institution of Glass-Steagall and the bankrupting of Wall Street. The nation will recover slowly, but it will rebuild itself around a mission, as was last promised under John F. Kennedy.

Yes, such a great future is possible. Get Obama out now, and we not only remove a Great Evil, but open the doors to a Great Good.
